Ohio 136th General Assembly Outcomes
November General Election
November 7, 2024

The tables below contain the outcomes for the 136th General Assembly general election in November 2024 for both the House of Representatives and the Senate, along with the counties each district contains. Counties with a “(P)” next to them indicate that only a portion of that county is in the district.

Winners are identified in bold.

Ohio House of Representatives

Table 1 contains the outcomes for the 136th General Assembly’s House of Representatives races. Members of the House serve two-year terms, so the entire chamber is up for election during both gubernatorial election years and presidential election years.

Ohio Senate

Table 2 contains the outcomes for the 136th General Assembly's Senate. Unlike the House of Representatives, members of the Senate serve four-year terms, with those in odd numbered districts elected in gubernatorial election years and those in even numbered districts elected in presidential election years. This year, an election was also held in the 33rd Senate District to fill the unexpired term created when Michael Rulli won election to the US House of Representatives.
