OVERVIEW

Senate Bill 78 (SB 78) of the 123rd General Assembly became effective on December 16, 1999. All of the changes made to Ohio Public Records Law (Ohio Revised Code Section 149.43) by SB 78 apply only to requests for inspection, copying, or release of records that are made on or after December 16, 1999.

The new law makes the following changes in the Ohio Public Records Law:

1. With certain exceptions, it requires public offices and responsible persons, upon request, to send copies of public records to the record seeker via United States mail. This change is discussed in Section 1 below. The model resolution that is included with this CAB may be used by board of county commissioners in implementing this section of the new law.

2. With certain exceptions, it allows a record seeker to choose the medium in which he or she wishes to receive the public record. This change is discussed in Section 2 below.

3/4. SB 78 creates a new exception to the Public Records Law by generally exempting “peace officer residential and familial information” from disclosure. This change is discussed in Sections 3 and 4 below.

5. SB 78 restricts the ability of juvenile and adult incarcerated persons (“prisoners”) to request and receive copies of public records related to their prosecution and sentencing. This change is discussed in Section 5 below.

6. SB 78 also clarifies the terminology used in the Public Records Law to specify that responsible persons and public offices are obligated to maintain public records and make them available for inspection. SB 78 also replaces the term “governmental units” in the Public Records Law with the term “public offices.” ORC 149.43 (R)(1) and (C).

1. COMPLYING WITH PUBLIC RECORDS REQUESTS BY MAIL - ORC 149.43 (R)(3)

SB 78 requires any public office or responsible person, upon request, to transmit a copy of a public record by United States mail within a reasonable time after receiving the request for the copy.

There are four points to keep in mind when considering how to deal with this new mandate:

1. A public office or responsible person may require the person making a mail request to pay in advance the cost of postage, and other supplies used in the mailing;
2. A public office may adopt a policy and procedures that it and responsible persons will follow in fulfilling mail requests;
3. If a public office adopts such a policy and procedures, it may limit under its terms the number of mail requests by one person that will be fulfilled to a maximum of ten per month, unless that person certifies to the public office in writing that he or she does not intend to use the requested records for commercial purposes, or to forward the requested records to another person who will use them for commercial purposes. If that certification is provided to the satisfaction of the public office, then there is no limit to the number of mail requests that may be fulfilled on behalf of a single person.
4. For the purposes of determining whether to fulfill mail requests for public records “commercial” is defined as “profit-seeking production” or the “buying or selling of any good, service or other product.” ORC 149.43 (E)(2)(C).

The term “commercial” does not include:

1. Reporting or gathering news;
2. Reporting of gathering information to assist citizen oversight or understanding of the operation or activities of government; or
3. Engaging in nonprofit educational research. ORC 149.43 (B)(3).

2. RECORD SEEKER’S CHOICE OF MEDIUM - ORC 149.43 (B)(2)

SB 78 allows a person who is seeking to obtain a copy of a public record to request that the record be provided on either: 1) paper, 2) in the same medium in which the public office or responsible person keeps the record, or 3) in any other medium that the public office or responsible person determines can reasonably be duplicated as an integral part of normal operations. When a record seeker chooses one of the options provided for in ORC 149.43(B)(2), the public office or person must provide the record in accordance with that choice.

Please note that this new language does not require a public office or responsible person to do any of the following in response to a new records requests: 1) create new information; 2) create a new analysis of existing information; 3) store records in a particular medium; or 4) reprogram a computer to produce any particular compilation of information that did not exist previously.

3. NEW EXEMPTION FROM DISCLOSURE FOR “PEACE OFFICER RESIDENTIAL AND FAMILIAL INFORMATION” - ORC 149.43(A)(1)(p), ORC 149.43(A)(7)

SB 78 creates a new exception to the Public Records Law under ORC 149.43(A)(1). This exception states that any record that contains “peace officer residential and familial information” is not considered a public record under state law and, except for a journalist’s request that meets the criteria set for in SB 78, is not required to be disclosed.

For the purpose of this exception, “peace officer” has the same meaning as in the Peace Officer Training Commission Law (ORC 109.71), except that “peace officer” does not include the sheriff of a county, or a supervisory employee who, whenever a sheriff is absent, is authorized to exercise the authority and perform the duties of a sheriff.

The new exception is one of the most explicitly defined of the sixteen that now are contained in the Public Records Law. “Peace officer residential and familial information” is defined as information that discloses any of the following:

1. The address of the actual personal residence of a peace officer, except for the state or political subdivision in which a peace officer resides;
2. Information compiled from referral to or participation in an employee assistance program;
3. The Social Security number, the residential telephone number, any bank account, debit card, charge card, or credit card number, or the emergency telephone number of or any medical information pertaining to a peace officer;
4. The name of any beneficiary of employment benefits, including but not limited to, life insurance benefits, provided to a peace officer by the peace officer’s employer;
5. The identity and amount of any charitable or employment benefit deduction made by the peace officer’s employer from the peace officer’s compensation unless the amount of the deduction is required by state or federal law;
6. The name, the residential address, the name of the employer, the address of the employer, the Social Security number, the residential telephone number, any bank account debit card, charge card, or credit card number, or the emergency telephone number of the spouse, a former spouse, or any child of a peace officer.

4. JOURNALIST REQUESTS TO OBTAIN PEACE OFFICER INFORMATION SHIELDED FROM DISCLOSURE UNDER SB 78 - ORC 149.43(B)(5)

SB 78 allows “journalists” to submit written requests to public record holders for the release of certain peace officer information that otherwise is exempted from disclosure under the new law. A journalist may not direct written requests to any public office or responsible person that does not employ that specified peace officer.

The written request must include the journalist’s name and title, the name and address of the journalist’s employer, and a statement that disclosure of the information sought would be in the public interest.

For the purposes of this provision, a “journalist” means any person “engaged by any news medium.....for the purpose of gathering, processing, transmitting, compiling, editing or disseminating information for the general public.”

A journalist may submit these written requests to the public office or responsible person who has custody of the records of an agency that employs the peace officer who is the subject of the request.

Upon receiving this request, a public office or responsible person must disclose the following information about a peace officer that it employs:

1) the address of the actual personal residence of the police officer; and
2) the name and address of the employer of a peace officer’s spouse, former spouse, or child, if that spouse, former spouse, or child is employed by a public office. SB 78 does not contain a definition of public office for this purpose.
All of the other peace officer residential and familial information that is listed in Section 3 above remains exempt from disclosure.

5. LIMITS ON PUBLIC RECORDS RECEIVED BY PRISONERS - ORC 149.43(B)(1)(4)

SB 78 imposes new restrictions on access to public records by incarcerated persons. Generally, it states that a public office or responsible person is not required to permit an incarcerated person to inspect or obtain a copy of any public record concerning a criminal investigation or prosecution. This general rule applies to incarcerated adults and juveniles.

There is one exception to this general rule. Adult and juvenile prisoners may still request and receive information if 1) it is subject to release as a public record, and 2) the judge who imposed sentence on the adult or juvenile prisoner, or that judge’s successor in office, determines that the information sought “is necessary to support what appears to be a justiciable claim of the person” making the request.
